Background

Redmond's Transportation Master Plan (TMP) is an element of the City's Comprehensive Plan, and is the document that guides how transportation funding is spent and what long-term projects and programs the City will focus on to provide excellent transportation services for its citizens. In 2010, the City began the process of updating the Transportation Master Plan, which was first adopted in 2005.

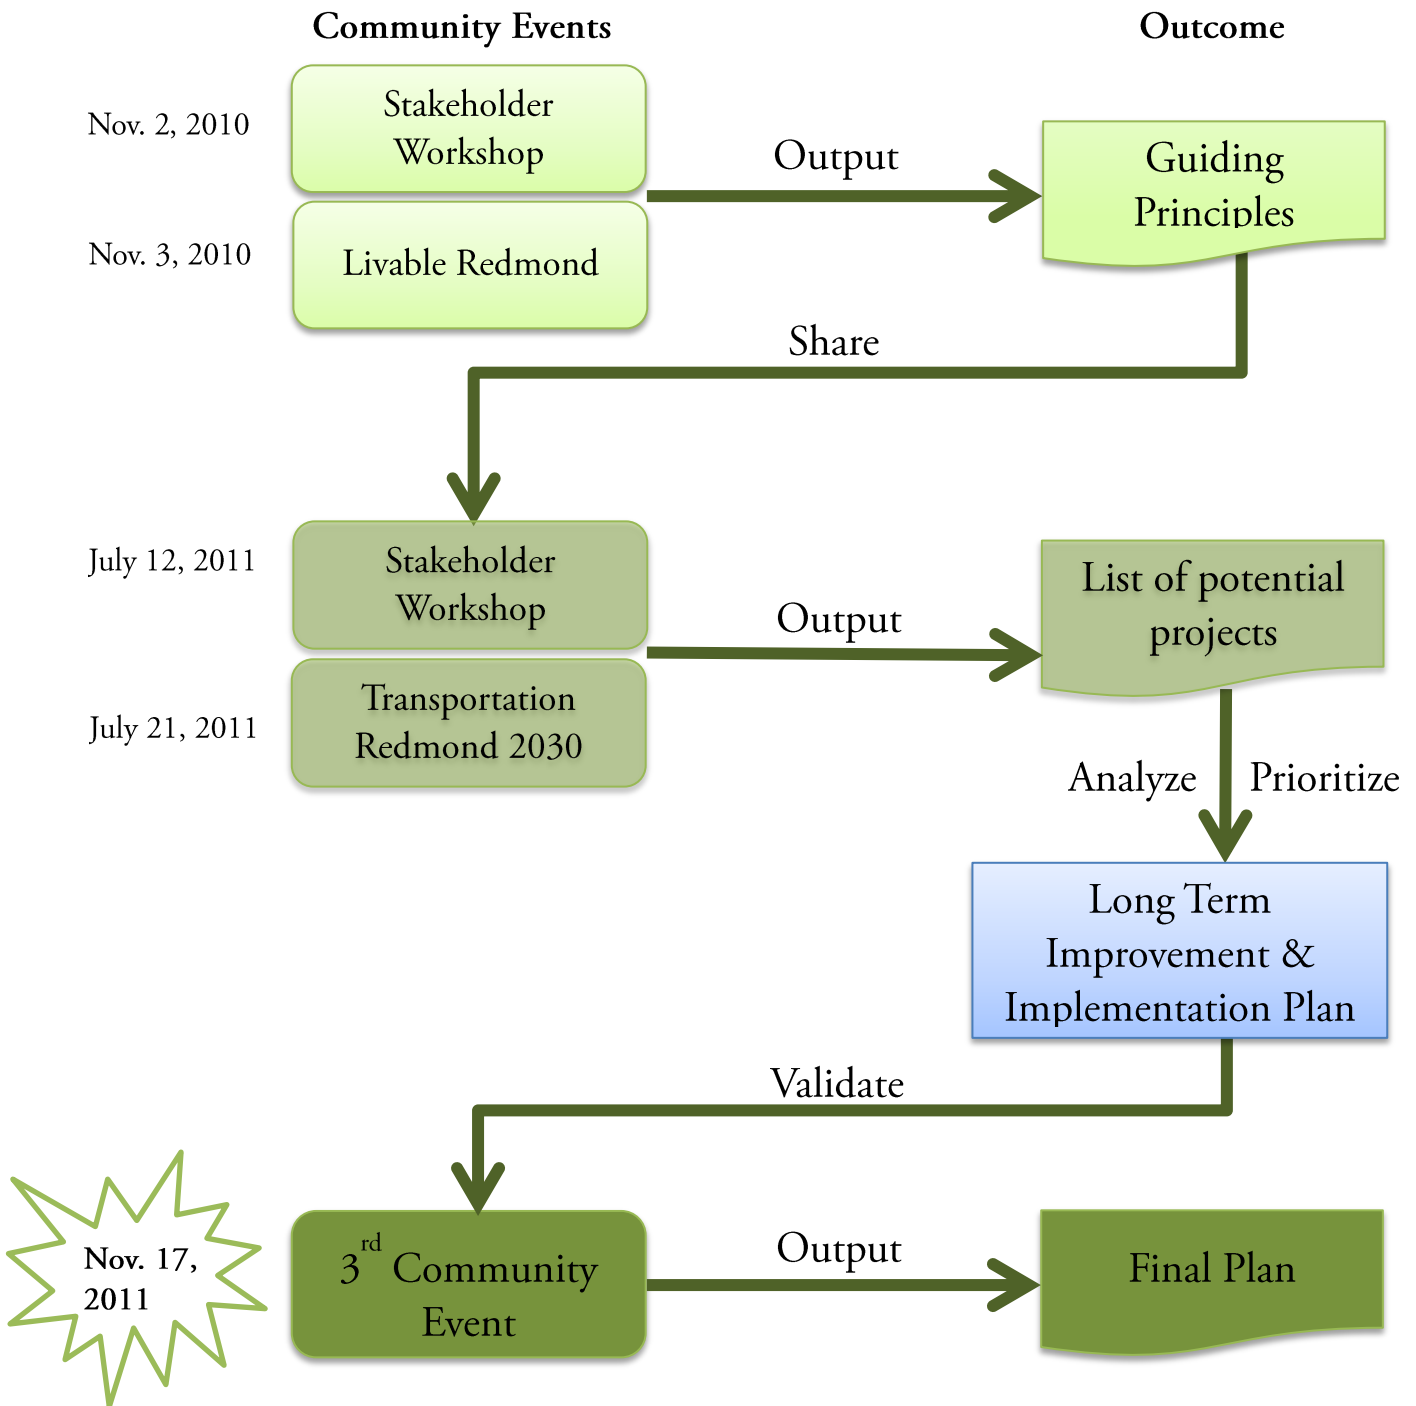

This meeting is the third and final public event that the City of Redmond is hosting as part of the 2010-2011 TMP update. Previous meetings focused on developing the principles that have guided the TMP update, and on brainstorming solutions to transportation challenges. With specific projects and programs now under consideration, the City would like your feedback. Does what you see align with the Transportation Master Plan Principles? Is there anything missing? What changes, if any, should we make to ensure that the TMP Principles are met?
